Electricity bills are high and they're just getting worse. Check out the news clips from the NV Energy consumer sessions

Nevadans are giving up their comfort, activities for kids, and plans for the future just to pay skyrocketing electricity bills. Methane gas, the utility's main source of fuel, is causing rate shock and customers have had enough. For more info CLICK HERE

NV Energy customers are frustrated over high utility bills. The utility says the latest "increase is needed to cover $92.7 million in costs, including purchased natural gas and power in 2022." For more info CLICK HERE

People are fed up with high energy bills & voiced their concerns to the Public Utilities Commission during a consumer session. Bills are high as customers pay the utility back for fuel purchased, mainly methane gas, over the last year. For more info CLICK HERE

LEGISLATION UPDATES

New Nevada laws spur investments in electric trucks & buses to reduce toxic air pollution across the state

CARSON CITY, NV – On June 9, Governor Joe Lombardo signed Assembly Bill 184, creating the Nevada Clean Trucks and Buses Incentive Program, into law. Sponsored by Assemblyman Howard Watts, the law is designed to accelerate the adoption of medium- and heavy-duty electric trucks, buses, delivery vans, and more among small businesses, public agencies, and school districts.

Governor Lombardo signs Nevada Clean Trucks and Buses Incentive Program into Law

CARSON CITY, Nev (KRNV) — On June 9, Governor Joe Lombardo signed Assembly Bill 184, creating the Nevada Clean Trucks and Buses Incentive Program, into law.

This law is designed to accelerate the adoption of medium and heavy-duty electric trucks, buses, delivery vans and more among small businesses, public agencies and school districts.

The Nevada Clean Trucks and Buses Incentive program received overwhelming bipartisan support because it leverages federal funds coming to Nevada. The program will help get more clean trucks and buses on the road.

Study Documents Huge Health Impacts of "Natural" Gas Pollution

No matter what the fossil fuel industry claims in its advertising, "natural" gas is anything but "clean." A new study shows that pollution from oil and gas is a shockingly large contributor to asthma, respiratory disease and other health

ABOUT GAS LEAKS: Our mission? To debunk the myth of 'clean' and 'natural' gas and expose its deep-seated contributions to public health crises and climate change. Despite cleaner energy alternatives being available, the oil and gas industry continues to expand, ignoring the immense harm caused to public health and the environment.
